* a group of equivalent hazardous mixtures is a group of several hazardous mixtures that have the same trademark, are placed on the market by the same person and whose components determining the hazard classification and labelling are identical. The quantities of these components may vary, as long as the hazard classification and labelling remains the same.

There is a general derogation of this principle for pesticides for agricultural use. Only in case if the producer submits a draft label for specific advice by the Poison Centre, a fee of 102 euro will be required. The Poison Centre will send an invoice. For all other cases, no fee is required.
